

If You Think There Has to Be a Better Way to Find the Qualified Professionals You Need...

It's Time You Learn About

HireHub.com is an Internet based suite of tools that simplify the job of professional recruiters and staffing managers. HireHub.com's unique Active Matching technology is miles ahead of the alternative services when it comes to finding qualified candidates and matching them to your precise requirements. HireHub.com lets you get more done in less time, while delivering more high quality candidates than you can get from any other source.

HireHub.com has the candidates other services can't find

The Active Matching Engine that powers HireHub.com works 24 hours a day searching the Internet for the resumes of potential candidates so you don't have to. Our unique technology can find anyone who has put his or her resume in public view on the Internet, whether they are actively seeking work or not, and puts the resumes it finds into HireHub.com's on-line database. This means you have a much greater pool to draw from—a critical advantage in professions where open positions are increasingly difficult to fill.

HireHub.com does better candidate screening for you

If you use standard keyword searches on a database of resumes you are left with a difficult choice. Make your search too narrow and you may miss that perfect candidate, but make it too broad and you will be wading through a hundred resumes—or more. Active Matching technology uses fuzzy matching logic to identify candidates based on complete concepts rather than individual words. This means that even though you have access to a very large pool of candidates you typically need to screen only a dozen or fewer well matched resumes.

You can start getting results from HireHub.com in thirty minutes

All that HireHub.com needs to identify candidates for you is one of your existing position descriptions. Simply type in the job requirements, or cut and paste them from an existing document, and HireHub.com will analyze your requirements, create a job profile, and match it to resumes in its database. There are special HireHub.com features to let you fine tune and customize your searches, but you can get started—and see impressive results—immediately.

HireHub.com delivers whenever you need it

HireHub.com does its matching and delivers its results on-line through the Internet. When you look for candidates, the results are delivered to you in seconds. You can fine tune your requirements, check candidate resumes, identify the best prospects, and be finished in only a few minutes. Day or night, any day of the week.

It's easy to become a HireHub.com client

Not every organization has the same staffing needs, and not every staffing professional works in the same way so we offer HireHub.com services in a variety of packages to let you choose what works best for you.

Traditional Candidate Referrals

Just like a traditional placement service, we can use the HireHub.com database and tools to identify candidates, qualify the candidates to make certain they're interested in your company, and pass the resumes on to you for your further action. You pay us a fee for each referral you turn into a hire.

Internet-Based Candidate Sourcing Service

Let our expert Internet recruiters find a pool of candidates for you that match your job requirements. We will search the Internet and find at least 10 resumes that match your "Must Have" job requirements. 100% guaranteed! Within two business days of your order, we will email you the matching resumes we have found. If the resumes do not match your job requirements, the service is free. If the resumes match your requirements, you pay a small fee.

Unlimited Access to HireHub.com Tools and Our Database of Resumes

You pay us one monthly fee and you get unlimited use of HireHub.com. No matter how many candidates you discover, and no matter how many hires you make, you pay just one small fixed fee.

Connect Your Own Resume Database to the Active Matching Engine

For a one-time engineering charge, we will connect your company's database of resumes to the Active Matching Engine so you can easily match your existing applicants with new positions as they open. You still get unlimited access to the HireHub.com database and use of the HireHub.com tools, all for a single, ongoing monthly fee. And, of course, your private database remains private and accessible only by you.
